Dear Dr Morrison

Expert Evidence Conference: 12-13 February 2011

I am writing to thank you for contributing to the success of the recent Expert Evidence Conference held at the Australian National University.

Participants' comments in their evaluation of the Conference have been very favourable, about both the content and the presenters. Some of the comments about your presentation were:

- Good audience interaction, interesting topic very well presented and challenging
- This presentation was interesting,
- Enthusiastic and clear in an opaque sort of way to a non-scientist. Made his basic point about likelihood ratio reasoning.
- Good speaker
- Academically interesting
- A robust presentation
- Persuasive and informative presentation on Bayesian reasoning and the meaning of likelihood ratios
- Good presentation – showed how to inject interest into a lecture and to simplify his subject matter so that it can be understood.
- Engaging and interactive
- Very entertaining and informative
- Informative, raised some interesting points
- Very thought-provoking presentation; simple explanation of some very complex issues and problems
- Lively and engaging presentation
- Very illuminating

- Interesting way of presenting difficult material – probably needed more time
- Thought-provoking

Your efforts to attend and present are particularly appreciated in view of your recent injury, and I hope you make a complete and speedy recovery.

On behalf of the organisers I would like to thank you for your valuable contribution to the Conference. The National Judicial College and the ANU College of Law are very grateful for the time and effort you committed. I hope you found the experience worthwhile.

Yours sincerely
